67. Conclusion. I cannot more fittingly conclude this address than by tendering my most grateful acknowledgments to His Highness the Maha Raja for the constant support, confidence and guidance His Highness has been graciously pleased to extend to me throughout. (Cheers.)"

Before adjourning the Assembly, the Dewan said:—

"Gentlemen, some members of the Assembly have expressed to me their wish that the business session—that is to say the discussion of the subjects—should not commence until to-morrow morning. I am agreeable and willing to comply with this wish. So we shall not meet again here this afternoon.

Some members of the Assembly have also requested me to place this hall at their disposal to enable them to meet here informally after the Assembly disperses. They are welcome to use the hall this afternoon."

The Assembly then adjourned at 1-27 P. M., to meet again the next day.
